

JEROME FOUNDATION
FY 2008 Grants Awarded in Criticism

Movement Research

The Jerome Foundation Board authorized a grant of $12,000 to MOVEMENT RESEARCH, New York City, in support of the publication of dance and movement criticism in the Performance Journal. Movement Research supports emerging ideas and those dance/movement-based artists who engage in such investigations. First published in 1990, the Performance Journal is a forum fostering the exploration and evolution of written and graphic languages that engage current issues of dance and performance. Each issue is conceived by an Artist Editorial Team around a specific topic or structure, and includes contributions from artists, writers, scholars and others.